prices by own payment of the participants etc. Drinks and foods to bring into the building "Rote Wiese 9" is not allowed.

Accom.: If desired the Chess-Highschool will give support to find a room for overnight.

Reglement: FIDE-Regulations; Appendice G of FIDE-Regulations does not apply. There is no obligation for notation of the games. In attendance of an arbiter the Tournament director (Jürgen Carsten) decides questions of rules immediately at place. With time-out the game is ending immediately – without any reclamtion of the opponent player (even by accustic signal of the chess-clock). Language of tournament is german.
If a player breaks the tournament bevor he finished all rounds, which would have been played by himself, he forfeited by hissself, his entitlement to the prize money expires in full for the benefit of the Chess-Highschool in Braunschweig/Germany. A tournament break also includes a game task before the 6th move or a draw before the 6th move. In the last case the tournament will be terminated prematurely for both players, with the result that none of them will claim a prize money.

E-Doping: The participation or introduction of electronic devices of any kind into the tournament area - whether or not these devices are switched on or off - is prohibited for all tournament participants, all members, all accompanying persons, all spectators. Anyone who is suspected of an offense has an adjoining room to show all clothes, bags, containers, to empty them and to show all kinds of equipment. Any infringement of the prohibition of bringing or incorporating electronic equipment into the tournament area will result in the loss of any game which has been falsified as a result of the e-doping, as well as the immediate exclusion of the tournament from which the offense is alleged. The refusal of a search of all bags, all containers, clothes, etc., is considered to be an offense in the above sense, that is, with the result of the immediate exclusion of the tournament. In these cases, the entry fee shall be forfeited in full for the benefit of the Schachhochschule. The participant excluded from the tournament in this way has no price claim regardless of his tournament result. Violations of the above prohibition of bringing or using any kind of electronic equipment in the tournament area, which are realized by the spectators, accompanying persons or members of the family, shall be attributed to a player with the effect of his immediate exclusion from the tournament, to whose sphere these persons (spectators, attendants, relatives) obviously belong.

Photo permission: By registering, the tournament participants agree to be photographed at the tournament and they agree to publish all photos in the Internet, in the world wide web (for example on the site www.schachhochschule.de) as well as in all printed matter, printed media, books, chess magazines etc.

Registration: The application is to be made in writing stating the first and last name, residence address, telephone number, association, year of birth, bank account (IBAN) and DWZ and normal ELO (not rapid-chess-Elo!):
info@schachhochschule.de or to:
Schachhochschule, Jürgen Carsten, Gieselerwall 7, 38100 Braunschweig (Telefax: 0531 - 240 77 78),

Registration deadline: The deadline is 2017-04-21 (Friday). Up to this date the application must be received in writing and also the entry fee must have been received.

Cancellation: The application can also be withdrawn until 2017-04-21, afterwards no more, because the tournament room, the buffet catering, the organization, etc. are arranged and booked according to the number of registered tournament participants. The entry fee shall be forfeited without compensation to the chess school for the organizational expenses and the higher tournament costs as a result of the planning. If the application is withdrawn by letter at latest on 2017-04-21, the entry fee will be reimbursed in full.

Inquiries: 0171 - 980 0531 (please do not check on mailbox!) and per E-Mail (see ab.)

Closing date: Sunday, 2017-05-21 at 10:10 a.m. (if there are still places available). Also registered players must be personally present in the play area by 10:10 a.m. on 2017-05-21 and register themselves with their personal data as well as with an officially recognized identification document.

Prizes: Depending on the number of participants; cash prizes will be distributed within 7 days after tournament via bank account, which is for security reasons. The prize money is rounded down to smooth 50s and 100s euros. For the rating-prizes the normal chess-Elo is given, not the rapid-chess-Elo! The price distribution of the fund with 18.000,00 € maximum (~ 20.000,00 USD in november 2016) maximum is as follows:

The tournament is played in one single group. Apart from the rating prizes, the participants are not differentiated according from each other, so there is a theoretical chance for everyone to get an international champion or grandmaster as game-opponent.

In the case of point equality, the following evaluation is valid:

1. "Buchholz";
2. Number of most profit games;
3. Value of „Buchholz” after deleting best and worst value.

Only German law applies. The legal process is also excluded with regard to the tournament results, the ranking of the tournament participants, the prize money distribution, etc. With regard to e-doping, it is pointed out that in case of suspicion of the unauthorized introduction or introduction of electronic devices, all participants, accompanying persons, viewers may also be legally prosecuted and convicted for attempted price fraud (§ 263 of the German Criminal Code = Strafgesetzbuch = StGB). In doubt, the regulations in german language and not the english translation is valid.

Honor of winners: Sunday, 2017-09-17, approx. 15:30 p.m. until 17:00 p.m.

(The honor of winners of the tournament is provisional and can be adjusted also after the tournament up to the 2017-09-20 - in case of special reasons such as calculation errors, e-doping etc.).

Tax information:

The Schachhochschule does not generate any profits, but is cost-effective and not subject to VAT. As far as tournament participants win prize money, such prize money is to be stated and taxed according to § 50 a Einkommensteuergesetz (= german law) at the financial authorities. Individual questions are to be clarified at their own expense at the members of tax-advisory professions. In the case of prize money to tournament participants who are less than 180 days p. a. in the Federal Republic of Germany, the Schachhochschule may retain 15 % of the prize money, transfer such amounts to the financial office responsible for the Schachhochschule and issue a corresponding certificate to the winner of prize money for the financial authority responsible for the winner in view of his prize money .
